York University offers a world-class, modern, interdisciplinary academic experience in Toronto, Canada's most multicultural city. York is at the centre of innovation, with a thriving community of almost 60,000 faculty, staff and students who challenge the ordinary and deliver the unexpected.

The Schulich School of Business and Osgoode Hall Law School of York University are each one of the world's leading faculties in their fields, with a commitment to excellence in teaching and research resulting in intellectual growth and exceptional career opportunities for our students. The two schools collaborated to establish the Jay and Barbara Hennick Centre for Business and Law in February 2009 (www.hennickcentre.ca). The Centre's mission is to promote and develop joint business and law scholarship and education, and to promote interdisciplinary collaboration at the intersection of business, law and public policy.
